

(Newsday Photos by Lyons)

Faces Reflect Shock, Pain; Hands Clutch Hands as Injured Students Are Carried on Stretchers and by Other Students to Ambulances

Pain, Shock—But All Saved in Fire

(Other Photos on Page 3, Back Page)

Brookhaven Memorial Hospital's corridors, below, became emergency treatment rooms yesterday after fire swept through the Bellport High School hospitalizing 37 students.

(UPI Telephoto)

Volunteer firemen carry an unconscious student from burning high school as two other unconscious coeds lie in foreground awaiting ambulance ride to hospital.

(Newsday Photo by del Toro)

(Newsday Photo by Lyons)

Blanket-Wrapped Injured Students Get Emergency Help as They Lie on School Lawn Awaiting Transportation to Hospitals